STROLL of POETS

President's Greeting

Dear Fellow Strollers:

Since the last Newsletter, the Stroll, the Fall Poetry Reading Series at the Upper Crust, & the Poetry Writing Workshop have come & gone. Our Anthology is ready to launch, we participated in The Word is Out, & the 12 Days of Poetry is in the works. Not bad for a mere two months, eh? These are some of the people to whom we are indebted: Marilyn Hooper Stroll coordinator; Michael Walters publicity coordinator; Louis Munan Writing Workshop organizer; Virginia T. Gillese Reading Series coordinator; Geraldine Matus, Newsletter editor, & jury organizer for the 12 Days Contest; Nancy Mac Kenzie & Ivan Sundal Anthology coordinators; Nancy Grantham Volunteer Coordinator; & all the people who helped with publicity, typing, proof-reading, working at the Stroll table, etc. In gratitude, I reserved space in the poets corner in heaven for you all. Be sure not to miss the Stroll Anthology Launch at City Hall. There is nothing more potent than the aroma of fresh ink emanating from a new book.

EDITING COURSE

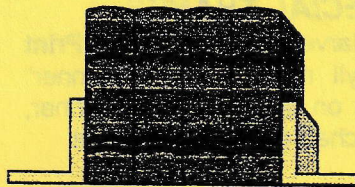

The Essential Editor

In this two-part workshop, learn to distinguish three levels of editing: proofreading, copy-editing & substantive editing. Whether you are editing your own work or someone else's, you need to know when it is appropriate to apply each of the three levels to the work. This course will assist you to apply essential skills to writing which will result in writing with both clarity & resounding strength. The clarity is a result of the invisible hand of the editor; the resounding strength of the author's voice a result of the written word.

Presenter: Nancy Mackenzie

(our 1997 Stroll of Poets Anthology editor) Nancy has been editing books & journals since 1981 for scholarly, educational & literary publishing houses. Her published books include Peter's Birthday (Reidmore Books 1987), a grade one text, Adventurous Albertans (Plains Publishing 1993), a grade 4 text, & Soul's Flight (Ekstasis Editions 1997), a book of adult poetry. Nancy is a graduate of Acadia University & the Kootenay School of Writing.

THE WORD IS OUT

REPORT: The Stroll of Poets Society took part in Edmonton's annual book fair, "The Word Is Out," on Oct. 26., for the first time. We had a table display & provided public entertainment, in lieu of paying a table fee. Entertainment consisted of writing Toonie Poems ($2.00 per poem) for people who ordered them, & and collecting the names of people's favourite poets on large sheets of paper. These were then used to decorate the bleak walls of the Arts Barns. More about that from Myrna Garanis who organized it. At our table we had Anthologies ($40 in sales), Stroll T- shirts ($30 in sales), and Stroll brochures & Reading Series programs. Part of the table was reserved for books or chapbooks by Stroll members, who took turns sitting at the table. Since attendance was very good, the Stroll did get the word out.

Anna M. display coordinator.

Edmontonians' favorite poets of all-time

The final results are in! A "grab-them-at-the-back-door" survey was conducted by the Stroll of Poets Society at the recent THE WORD IS OUT Festival.

Under pressure to choose only one poet even if ten names came to mind, nearly 200 fairgoers responded as follows:

Leaders of the Pack: Leonard Cohen, e.e. cummings, Robert Frost, Emily Dickinson, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow & Margaret Atwood.

In the Top 20: Edgar Allen Poe, Robert Service, John Donne, William Shakespeare, Shel Silverstein, Dr. Seuss., & T.S. Eliot.

In the 'mentioned more than once ranks': Maya Angelo, Robbie Burns, Gerard Manley Hopkins, Rudyard Kipling, Rainier Maria Rilke, Dylan Thomas, & William Butler Yeats.

Thanks to all who participated. Still want to compare favorites? Try 100 Best-Loved Poems, (Dover), The Golden Treasury (Palgrave's), The Library of World Poetry: being choice selections from the best poets, The Oxford Treasury of Classic Poems, or The Top 500 Poems. All titles available at your local bookseller or library. Myrna Garanis to Harvey Long at Sure Print (Argyll road) for his "banner" work on our new Stroll banner, launched at the Word is Out.

SPECIAL THANKS

GREETINGS FROM

Michael McCarthy -- last year's visitor from Ireland -- sends special greetings to his "Edmonton Angels"

"This is to send greetings to the stroll of poets from England, to remind myself of how good you were to me during my sabbatical & to send my e-mail address which I have just signed up for & am practicing how to use. If this attempt is successful I will send a more detailed message next try.

my address:
michael@mmccarthy.cablenet.co.uk

Michael is happily settling into his new parish in England, Sherburn-in-Elmet.

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

1999 ANTHOLOGY ON DEPRESSION (untitled)

Rowan Books, an imprint of The Books Collective, is seeking submissions from women for a new publication to be released for its 1999 season.

The sense of isolation experienced with depression is often profound. This book will provide a format for the stories women would share over coffee or over the phone if they were able to speak freely about their experiences.

If you have had depression or have a story to tell because you are connected in some way to person(s) with depression, this format is for you.

Rowan Books welcomes works of not more than 3000 words in length, in the form of essays, short stories, or poetry. Photographs or line drawings may also be accepted. If you wish your work returned, enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Contributors Payment:

$50/ poem, drawing, photo

$100/ story or essay

Deadline: for Submissions:

Mar. 31, 1998.

Send entries to:
